Dear Friends,
Greetings from The Paradise Residential School.

We are celebrating the foundation of Karnataka and it is important to strengthen our language and culture. Every language has developed through many centuries. We in India are enriched by many languages. All languages are very important, particularly one's mother tongue is of utmost importance. We often forget our mother tongue, when we give undue importance to other languages, Yes, acquiring languages based on the time, place and need are necessary for survival; however, safeguarding our own language is vital for protecting our culture.

Our celebration of Karnataka Rajyotsava teaches us to hold our language and culture very close to our hearts. While we make efforts to acquire other languages, let us not forget our own. Solution to every problem is in our culture exhibited in our literature and practices. My dear students, let us remember the words of Agnes Chavis, an educator, "Generations have struggled to learn, despite efforts to eliminate our traditions and language. Having a strong sense of yourself and your community is a great foundation for learning."

All the Paradines join me in wishing every one of you a VERY HAPPY KARNATAKA RAJYOTSAVA. We are very happy that our management, The Paradise Group of the Thimmaiah Educational Trust, has ventured into establishing another Institution at Gulimangala, Lakshmi Narayanapura, Huskur by the name THE PARADISE INTERNATIONAL, the construction is in midway now. The Institution with world-class facilities shall commence its academic journey in the next academic year. As we wish our management and all associated with the Institution the very best, we request your patronage and support for the new educational venture.

We celebrate the Festival of Lights - Deepavali, as we read this newsletter of The Paradise Residential School. It is an important festival in our rich culture. Let us illuminate our hearts and those of others. May all of us be filled with good thoughts and truest joy.

Dr S Isias
Dean and Principal
